

Slate Dance Recital For Cancer Society Monday

Twenty-five pupils from the Darlene School of Dance will stage a dance recital from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Civic Auditorium tomorrow night. A 50-cent donation will go to the American Cancer Society, for which the recital is a benefit.

Expectant Moms Classes To Start Again In Fall

The fall series of expectant mothers' classes to be held in the Torrance Health Center, 2800 Carson St., will start Thursday, Oct. 8, at 1:30 p.m., according to Dr. B. A. Kogan, district health officer for the County Health Department.

The course, given by the County Health Department, is designed to assist prospective parents in planning and caring for the new baby. There is no registration fee and no text books are required. Diplomas will be given to those who attend the required number of classes, Dr. Kogan said.

LONG LIVE... Darwin Parrish, chairman of the Recreation Commission, crowns Bobby Sonju of Fern Ave. King of Health for Summer 1953. Seated next to Bobby on the throne is Joyce Loreutenser, Queen of Health. The royal pair were crowned at the Recreation Department Open House held Thursday at the Civic Auditorium.

Little Leaguers May Lose Field To Retail Center

Little League baseball in Torrance will be searching for a new field next year if a projected commercial development on Torrance Airport land goes through, it was revealed this week.

A group headed by Tracy Skelton of the Wilmington Savings & Loan Assn. has offered to lease a section of the municipally owned land at the northeast corner of Pacific Coast Hwy. and Crenshaw Blvd. and want to construct retail buildings on the site.

The land, part of property deeded to the city by the U.S. government as part of Torrance Municipal Airport, was leased on a short-term revocable basis to the Little Leaguers.

The Wilmington group want to lease the land by paying the city a share of rentals collected from tenants. Their first structure would be a large department store, to be followed later by smaller retail buildings.

These would be built on the land now occupied by the Little League diamond. The property is not affected by a deed restriction which limits most of the airport land to aviation use.

The January Co. of Long Beach have announced that construction of a retail center at the southwest corner of the intersection is due to begin next month.

... Hog Ranches

some residents as "unbearable." The homeowners are to meet with the Torrance City Council Wednesday night, at which time they will demand the garbage not be plowed under as has been suggested, but removed from the field entirely.

Not the Answer
"Plowing it under is not the answer," said the homeowners spokesman. "The rains will uncover portions of it or a truck gardener will come in to plant the field and uncover it with his plow. If the person who dumped the garbage does not haul it away, the city will have to send a crew of men, at the taxpayers' expense, out to the field and haul it away. The person responsible for this disgraceful, filthy condition should be made to clean up his own mess. And we are going to see that it is done."

Ask for Outlaw
The residents will ask the council to outlaw hog ranches in the city. They claim that Torrance is the garbage recycling center for the greater South Bay Harbor area and that garbage from other cities is being hauled here, spread upon the ground as hog feed, and then scraped out of the pens and dumped into an open field.

Owners of the property, the Chamlor-Canfield Midway Oil Co., have denied having any responsibility for what happens to their property. They have leased the ground to a farmer, a spokesman for the company told the residents at a recent meeting of city officials and homeowners.
